

RABBIT

More than half the world's rabbit population resides in North America.
The only place a rabbit sweats is through the pads on its feet.